March Highlights

Every month, our in-flight entertainment guide is mindfully packaged to ensure that all shows cater to your every entertainment need and this month is no different. Featured on our cover this March is one of the latest additions to our African Choice category. Beyond The River, a heartfelt South African adventure film about two men who stop at nothing to win the three-day Dusi Canoe Marathon despite having never competed as a team before, and each being haunted by their individual troubles. Leading the cast are legendary South African actor Grant Swanby (who plays Steve) and Lemogang Tsipa (who plays Duma). The one is running away from his old life and the police, while the other's marriage is on the brink of a divorce. The movie is based on the true story of Siseko Ntondini and Piers Cruickshanks, who won gold in the 2014 Dusi. Prepare to have to your emotions moved!

While still on the subject of emotions, South Africa recently lost its father of jazz Hugh Masekela to prostate cancer. The legendary muso lived a full life which saw him fight, amongst other things, the brutal apartheid system during the early years of his career.

Check out our tribute and a timeline of some of his most memorable career and personal events on page 5.

For a dose of sci-fi action, we've added Justice League for your entertainment consideration — the movie proves that superhero movies still have a huge place in fans' hearts. This sci-fi wonder was a huge commercial success after raking in an impressive 656 million USD. The lead character Bruce Wayne aka Batman (played by the multiple award-winning Ben Affleck) is inspired to save the planet from what could be the most calamitous attack ever. Realising that his mission requires a bigger team of superpowers, he secures the help of his new partner Diana Prince aka Wonder Woman (stunningly played by Gal Gadot) and together they assemble a team of superheroes that includes Superman, Aquaman, Cyborg and the Flash to help them wage war against the planet's newest enemy. Justice League will help you escape the reality of your long distance flight.

Our growing selection of kids' movies includes new additions in the form of Coco, Shrek as well as The Pirates! Band of Misfits.

These and more should keep your little ones entertained for hours on end! For a dose of old school film festival hits, check out our two new selections — The Artist and Spectre.

Perusing through our in-flight entertainment guide you will build your own informed list of favourite content. Prepare to be spoilt for choice with a combination of great films, television series, documentaries, sports report, business content, comedy shows, wildlife, lifestyle and travel shows, destination guides as well as arts and culture content that'll have your eyes glued to our seat-back screens. As if all of the above is not enough, there's also our music mixes and radio shows curated by some of the world's best on-air personalities and club Djs.

Here's to more blissful experiences aboard South African Airways flights!

CELEBRATING THE LIFE OF HUGH MASEKELA, THE FATHER OF SOUTH AFRICAN JAZZ

Youthfully spirited until his last days, Bra Hugh passed on in late January 2018 leaving a huge void in the South African music industry. To say that his contribution will be missed would be the biggest understatement of our time

Every generation usually has a group of individuals spearheading its revolution. In South Africa, late jazz legend, horn player and sociopolitical activist Hugh Ramapolo Masekela was undoubtedly one of the biggest agents of influence in music, theatre and the arts as a whole.

The 78-year-old rewrote the jazz narrative through his vigorous spirit and flugelhorn and trumpet infused music — making the genre approachable to both the young and old. After a brave battle against prostate cancer, Bra Hugh passed on on the 23rd of January 2018, leaving behind his son and daughter, grandchildren, wife of 19 years and six decades of musical memories.

As tributes poured in from around the world, speaker after speaker mentioned how they would miss Bra Hugh's brutal honesty. Bra Hugh spent 30 years in exile campaigning against the apartheid regime, but remained a rooted son of the African soil. His son Sal Masekela told an anecdote of how despite being offered citizenships by many international countries, he was adamant that he wanted to remain South African. Rest in eternal peace Bra Hugh. Your life story will forever be etched in our hearts and minds for decades to come. And may we all learn a thing or two from the honesty he became synonymous with.

"I've got to where I am in life not because of something I brought to the world but through something I found - the wealth of African culture." - Hugh Masekela -

The life and times of Hugh Masekela

1939: Hugh Masekela was born on 4 April in Kwa-Guqa Township in the small coal mine town of Witbank to Polina Bowers and Thomas Selema Masekela. Even though he grew up surrounded by music, his maternal grandmother did not allow records to be played in their home. Hugh was inspired to play the horn after watching the 1950s musical drama film Young Man With A Horn. At 17, Archbishop Trevor Huddleston buys him his first trumpet.

1959: Bra Hugh became part of Huddleston Jazz Band, the first ever youth orchestra. Alongside Jonas Gwangwa and Abdullah Ibrahim, he went on to record the first album by a South African jazz band. He also took part in Todd Matshikiza's hit musical King Kong.

1960: After being closely affiliated with the African National Congress for years,

Masekela moved to London, and later New York, after the party was banned from South Africa by the apartheid government. After meeting and working with musical giants such as Louis Armstrong and Dizzy Gillespie, Masekela's single Grazing In The Grass dominated music charts in the US. He also married Miriam Makeba during his time.

1974: Masekela returned to Africa where he interacted with the continent's musical greats and formed part of a team of musicians that organised the Zaire74 concerts. He moved to Botswana in 1980.

1990: Masekela moved back to South Africa after the demise of the apartheid government and the release of Nelson Mandela from prison.

1999: Masekela married Elinam Cofie

2004: The first edition of Still Grazing: The Musical Biography of Hugh Masekela was released.

2010: Masekela performed at the World Cup Opening Concert at Orlando Stadium, in Soweto, South Africa

2017: Owing to ill health, Masekela's team cancelled his performance at the annual DSTV music festival where thousands of fans had been anticipating his performance.

2018: Masekela passes on at age 78 after a decade-long battle with prostate cancer.

Hugh Masekela brought magic to the world like no other, thank you for each note that you played and each heart you uplifted with your passion and music.

Wonder

Wonder

PG - Edited

Drama, Family - 113 min
Language: English, French, Braz Portuguese
Subs: English Closed Captions
Cast: Julia Roberts, Owen Wilson

Latest arrival

Upon being introduced to Wonder's lead character August Pullman (played convincingly by the delightful Jacob Tremblay), your first instinct will probably be sympathy, followed by heartache at the amount of suffering and prejudice he's had to endure. However, as the story unfolds, you will soon realize that this is a lesson-laden film that children could benefit immensely from watching. The life-lessons embedded within the storyline are bound to stand them in good stead for life — the first being that it's ok to stand out, instead of always pushing to blend in with their peers. The second most important being to refrain from judging a situation or person at face value. The film is based on R.J. Palacio's widely-read children's novel.

August is a 10-year-old boy born with a rare genetic facial deformity who's about to start attending a mainstream school, for the first time in his life. On day one as a fifth grader, August arrives at school wearing an astronaut's helmet hoping to protect himself from people's weird stares, but his father (played by Owen Wilson) carefully takes it off before urging him to proceed towards the school's doors.

As he starts walking, his mother (played Julia Roberts) can be heard praying that the other kids treat him nicely. His parents had been home-schooling him largely to protect him from being rejected by his peers. All of the the 27 corrective surgeries he's had since birth have helped him breathe, see and hear without the use of a hearing aid, but none left him looking ordinary.

As expected, the first few months in the school environment are tough and we see August navigating discrimination and eventually, self-doubt. The story shows the children grow from being shallow in how they perceived August, to them making an effort to understand him beyond his looks. In the end, tolerance reigns on the school's playgrounds and classrooms, while August's courage and self-esteem also develop beautifully. It is also during this time that he learns to speak candidly about his condition, and delivers his points using the cutest one-liners.

Our verdict — Good luck trying to watch the full movie without bawling your eyes out or at least shedding a tear, or two! And not because the events are sad but mostly because of the film's relevance. Wonder is a definite must-watch!
